The Fraidy Cat Quiz

Rate your fear level with the newly remastered Fraidy Cat Quiz

1. Do you scream every time someone sneaks up on you?
2. Do you have extreme anxiety at night or in general?
3. Do you cringe when it comes to human contact?
4. Do the ominous cackles of nearby crows make you shudder?
5. Does the Twilight Zone theme and/or background music make it even creepier to you?
6. Do dark allies send a chill down your spine, even though common sense says that you shouldn't be there in the first place?
7. Do you fear the downstairs hallway because of vicious 3rd and 4th graders that use gang-up tactics?
8. Do you turn on a light to turn on another light?
9. Do you close your blinds at night so you can't see the dark horrors that await?
10. Are you afraid of snakes in the toilet?

If you answered yes to 3 of these, then you are either brave or insanely innocent.

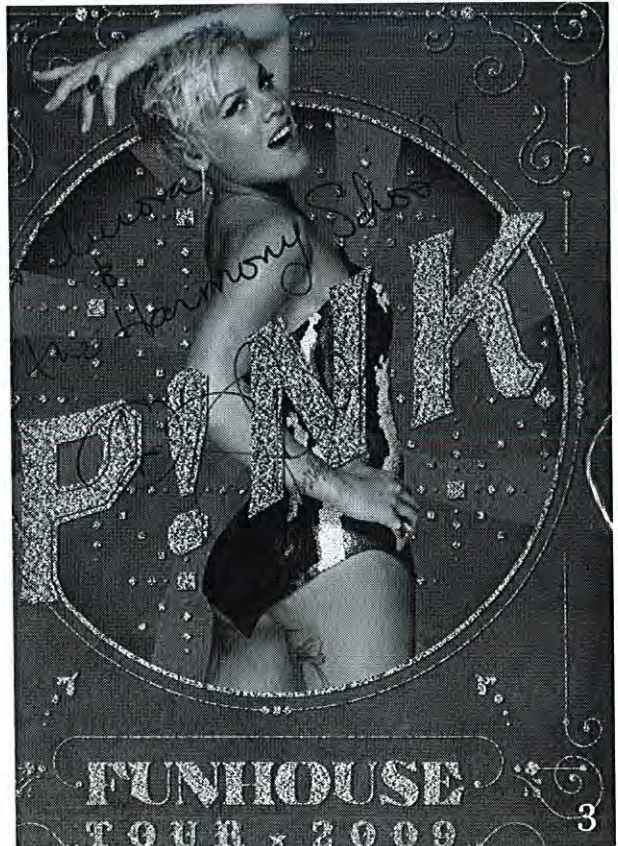

If you answered yes to 5 of these then you are just plain yellow-bellied.

If you answered yes to 7 of these then prepare to be severely mocked.

If you yes to all of these then you have quite the load on your shoulders. I'd consult a doctor. Quickly.

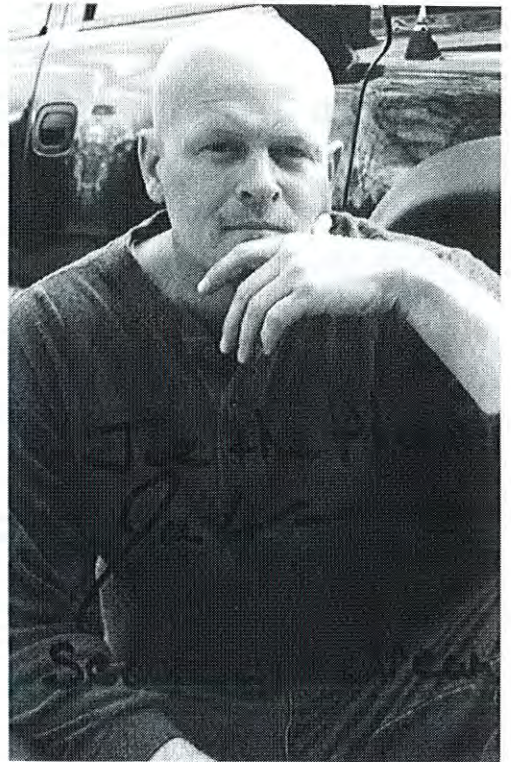

Introduction: Huh, "Fraidy Cat, with some serious beeswax!" Ok, that'll work--it can be interpreted on a multitude of levels. Little kids, older kids, adults--we all have fears. We softened the request with a "real or imagined" twist. Most people opted for real--lord knows there's plenty of them to choose from.

We want to acknowledge the splendid yearbook staff--Annie, who kept our collective fears at bay, Avery, who knew what needed to be done & actually did it, Sumer, who was simply wonderful, Aurora, with the extra neat transition pages, Brittany and Kendra, whose sophisticated graphics made us smile, Arianna & Tosh, who arm wrestled over the Gizzard, & the general staff of Adam, Mandisa, Ben, Ross, Brenton, Mandi, Hazel, Amy, Nico, the Presscorp, Jordan and Zeri, who made it all happen.

*Hard drugs

calvin langfitt,

BEAT UP and left for DEAD.

Who am I...?

Yes I am... I am Sierra Launer

I am a regular teen

I am eighteen

I, as a teen, have some learning disabilities but

That's why I go to HARMONY

It's a private one-on-one help type of school

Yes I am the one...

I am the one who is HIV positive

I am the one who has to live HIV positive

I have been HIV positive since I was born

In 1991

I am the one who has almost died

Several times in my life

I am the one who has to confront people in really hard situations

I am HIV positive

I am the one who will continue my future

No matter what

Who am I...?

I am the one who is still informing others

I am the one who not many people understand

I think they need a hand

Who am I...?

I am the one who can sit here and share what it is like living HIV positive

I am the one who is scared the day will come

When I won't be able to inform others anymore

Yes...

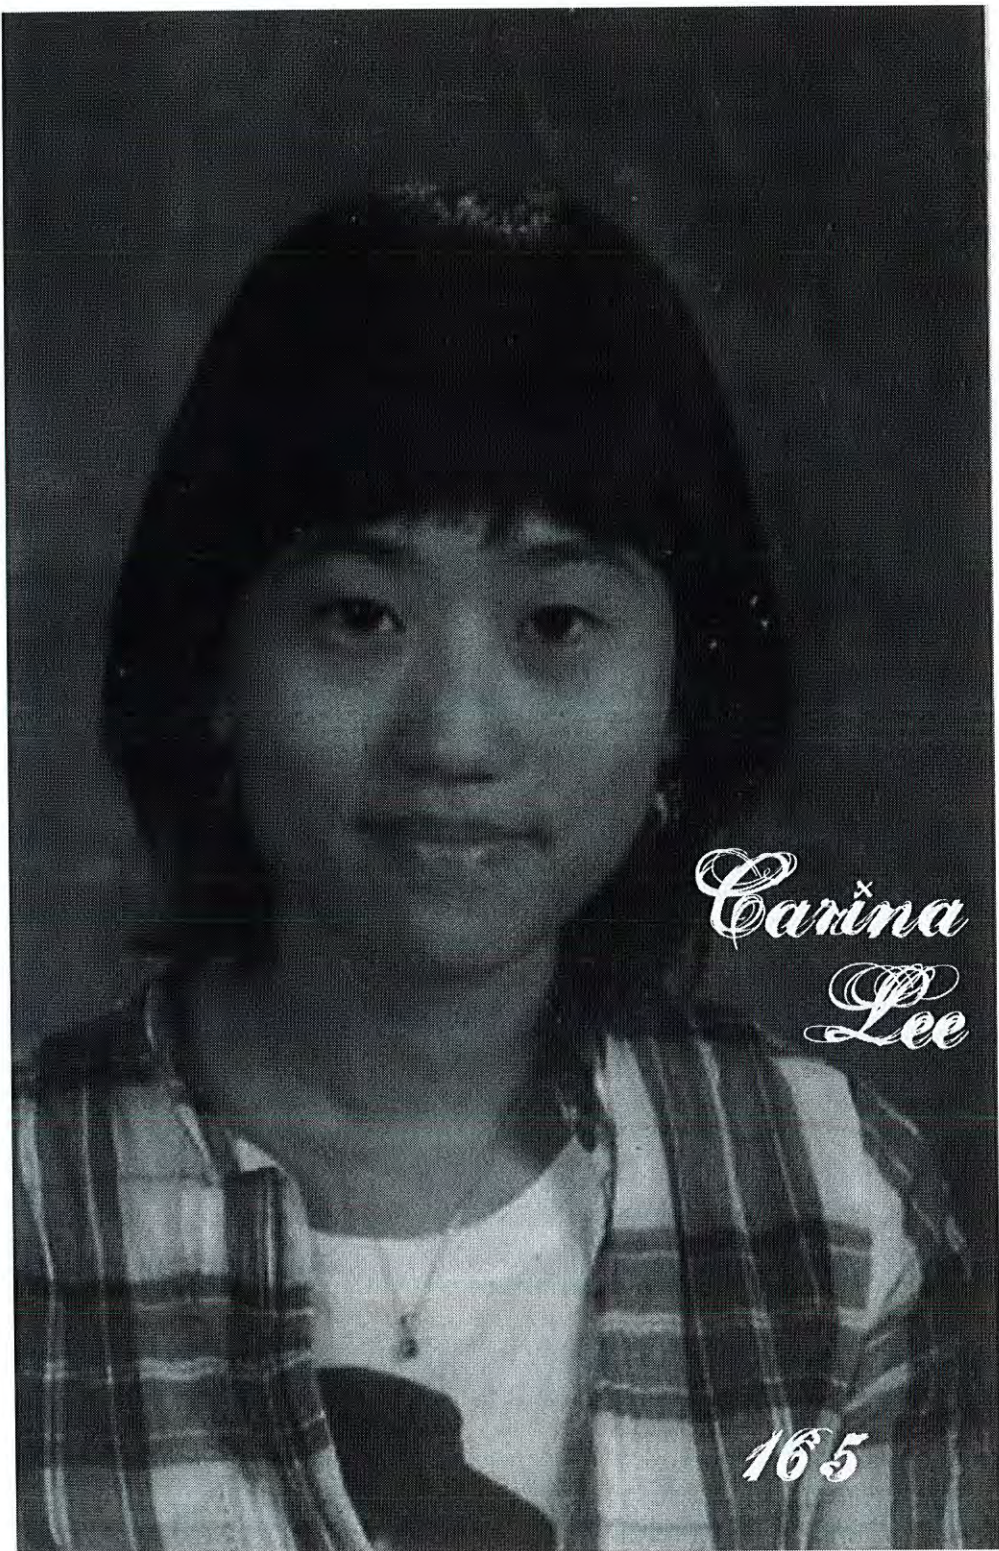

Yes who am I am the young minded teen

Who is eighteen?

I am the one who is alive and healthy today sharing with you

That every day is meaningful to me including today

Pizza Wars: Max's vs. Mother Bear's

What was thought to be a peaceful, organized vote turned into an open conflict, splitting the school into two warring factions. Mother Bear's fans threw slices of Max's pizza at Max's fans, which were similarly armed with slices of Mother Bear's pizza that they tossed at the opposition. The Student Solidarity Riot squad successfully ended the squabble, armed with a rolled up copy of the school ethos which they repeatedly struck the...

Soccer Challenge: Middle School Successfully Ties Game

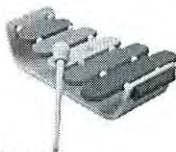

"It just seemed very un-Harmonylike—this obsession with winning," said Middle School soccer coach Adam Berndt. "Why can't everyone be a winner," he added, "let's play for a tie!" It took some convincing, but the Middle Schoolers eventually saw things Adam's way and successfully shaped the outcome of the match. "It actually was harder than you'd think," said Adam, "we had to miss shots, slow down, and appear disorganized, but to see the happy faces of those 5th & 6th graders made it all worthwhile."

Tosh sent to student solidarity "re-education" center

After several unsuccessful coup attempts, the rogue revolutionary leader, Tosh Lewis-Young was captured by Student Solidarity operatives. He was taken to a secret facility known as the "dirt room" where he was interrogated. Forty-eight hours later, he walked out, with glassy eyes. He was later seen praising Student Solidarity in a low-pitched, droning voice.

Knitting craze fades, Sleeping craze manifests

Last year, knitting was the "it" thing to do in family meetings and class. However, that old favorite has died and a new falling asleep trend has erupted from its ashes. High School student Calvin Langfitt has stated "It just keeps me focused, man."

Ben Haile Accidentally Launched by Trebuchet

"It all happened so quickly," said stunned bystander, Aurora Detor, "one moment Ben was at 2nd base and the next he's flying through the air." Fortunately Ben wasn't hurt as he landed on the playground sand. "I don't know, some guy told me to hold this thing down," Ben said, "I had no idea it was actually loaded."

Fighting Ross Bobble Head Skyrockets in Value on E-Bay

A bobble head of high school student Ross McKinney recently sold for $200 on e-bay. "There's just something about seeing his head bounce around that people find cool," said fellow high school student Max Barentine. "Why, I myself, have spent countless hours staring at my Ross Bobble head—it's better ..."

James Adopts Pay Pal to Sell Dr. Pepper

"This was just a smart business decision," James recently told the Gizzard, "not every kid carries cash to school, but almost every kid can use a computer. Really, the only down side was I had to rent a fleet of 16 wheelers to store the two liter bottles."

This Year's Theme for High School Prom: Non-Existence

The High School Prom Committee really outdid themselves this year with a brilliant rendition of nothingness. From the tastefully minimal decorations, to the thinking outside of the box prom setting and calorie counting refreshments, a good time was had by all.

Rhino Accidentally Sold at High School Rummage Sale

"At least it was for a good cause," said High School teacher Jon Cracraft. "The sign did say 'Everything must go' and we assumed everything meant everything," he added. Also missing were the school ethos, both basketball goals, the Middle School lounge, and 6 parking spaces.

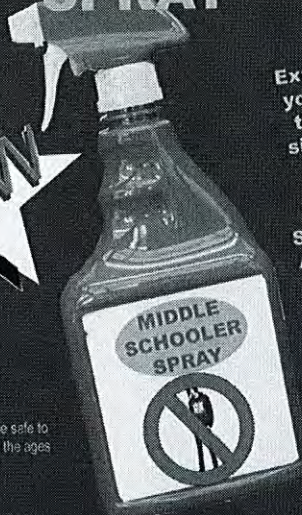

School Ethos Abbreviated to "SNARFAT"

"Hey, we thought it sounded stupid too," said student solidarity representative Annie Dill, "until we really sat down and thought about it." Divina added, "Yeah, 'Students Now Act Right For All Times' just nails it—no more pussyfooting around feelings & bodies—it's SNARFAT—short and sweet."

Complex Rube Goldberg Machine Sits in Corner & Occupies Space

This year for the Science/Math/Tech Expo, the Rube Goldberg team decided to make a machine that did nothing. When the team began designing the contraption, they decided to do something that had never been done before. To make the machine aesthetically pleasing, they created contraptions with no purpose or use, while taking up a maximum amount of space. Before the machine was presented, one member of the group had this to say, "We thought we could go with something new, something fresh, and that was nothing."

Staff v Student Basketball Game A Slam Dunk

It was with considerable hoopla that the annual staff v student basketball game was held this year at the Boy's Club. We say "hoopla" because the students actually won thanks to three last minute Harmony student enrollees—"Orange Kid, No Name, and Brahm the B. Shortly after the game these three Harmony enrollees disappeared into the crowd and were never seen again.

Welcome to Rachael's Café – the coffee house *with room to grow!

Rachael's Cafe grew out of a desire to create a friendly, inclusive, peaceful atmosphere for all. Our mission is to bring understanding, education, and acceptance over a cup of coffee.

We offer gourmet coffees and drinks along with homemade soups, salads, sandwiches and entrees. We believe that high quality, modestly priced food and drinks served in an unashamed, eclectic environment will nurture the meeting and mixing of both friends and strangers. An open mic night will give everyone the chance to express their views or share their talents, including live music and open discussions on diverse topics.

'Bloomington is a fabulous community full of open people - but is lacking a place designed to welcome folks of all walks of life, be it gender, race, religion or whatever your sameness or unqueness may be,' says owner Rachael Jones.

If you build it they will come. If it's good they will return!

“13 years of universal exploration and still the best in it's class.”

In conclusion:

Fear is the flavor of the week...month... maybe years. The yearbook editors thought it would make a good theme but we didn't see the zombies coming...we figured global warming, terror, the economy would scare them away.
